

SURVIVAL'S A NIGHTMARE

By
Paul Unger

ISBN 978-0-9594869-0-2

9 780959 486902 >

© Copyright 1980 Paul Unger
70 Collies Lane
Mardi NSW 2259

This novel is fictitious and any similarity between the names of people, places and events used in this book and the names of people, places and events in real life is purely coincidental.

This book may not be reproduced in part or full, by any means, nor translated, nor transmitted without the written permission of the publisher

I.S.B.N. 0 959 4869 0 9

Printed in Australia by Wand Printing Co.

PREFACE

Do YOU trust insurance companies?

One young man bucked their system. Rather than let his demolished truck be repaired at a ridiculously low cost he opted to rebuild 'THE TIGER' himself even though he realised that his plan would exhaust his hard-earned savings. 'The Tiger' was his sole means for physical survival and of reaching the great Australian goal of some day owning his own home.

That decision aggravated his already infuriated insurer and proved to be the water that brought to life the vines of corruption that lay dormant in the vast lawn of the Transport Industry.

Survival's A Nightmare

The truck on the cover was spread all over the upside down trailer. After being hit by a wheat train, the Semi Trainer truck was declared not to be a WRITE OFF.

The driver received laceration to the head and spinal cord injuries. He fully recovered over time and rebuilt the wreck over 6 months with the help of others. The accident was December 1977.

In May of 1981 he with 2 co-drivers completed a 13,172 klm trip around mainland Australia in 6 days 23 hours to raise funds for Austcare. Austcare attributed their efforts to be a value of $30,000.

